Codename: VINDICATORS

As team commanders of SR-88 Strategic Battle Tanks, players must face the invading forces from the evil Tangent Empire. The barbanans have located your peaceful stations and threaten to capture the galaxy. After a successful landing assault, they have installed large pod cannons with rotating turrets to thwart your people's resistance, and establish control of the station. Highly mobile armored tanks constantly patrol the station's multi-levels to protect the fortifications the Tangents have built.

With limited supplies and weapons, your dwindling colony has decided to make one last stand and take control of its destiny! The most powerful weapon in your arsenal are two SR-88 Strategic Battle Tanks. They are extremely mobile and powerful, but their fuel is highly volatile. Fuel must be replenished by locating fuel seeds that can be found throughout the station's many levels. Battle stars can be found along the station's floors, vital to obtaining powerful weapons and super powers. Sophisticated process generators convert these stars into the powers and weapons necessary to crush your rivals.

Your backs are up against the wall...you must stand and fight!
